The People vs.

vs.

Antonio Benedict.

Peter McFarlane, of lawful age, being duly sworn on oath according to law, deposes and says: That he was one of the jurors on the trial of the above entitled case; that the jurors were of the opinion that the accused was weak or simple minded and not capable of realizing the full nature of the crime of which he was convicted and that a paper was prepared to that effect to be presented to the court with the verdict but that the jurors did not know the propriety of such a course and the same was withheld. And deponent further says that from the evidence adduced on the trial of said case and from the appearance of the defendant on the witness stand he believes that the defendant is an idiot or morose or idiotic and seriously doubts that the defendant at the time of the commission of said offense knew what he was doing or was capable of distinguishing or discriminating between right and wrong. And further deponent says not.
